

THE MORNING APPEAL.

The Official Paper of Ormsby County.
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13

ALL SORTS.

Ladies are signing a petition in Reno in favor of Mrs. Hartley.

The Epworth League gave a very enjoyable entertainment last night.

Sailor Brown, a noted character along the water front in San Francisco, shot his wife and then killed himself.

Miss Gould paid $3,000,000 for the Count. Wonder what she will sell him for in a few years? Since his face was slapped by an actress, he appears to be a good short.

There was a riot in a Catholic Church in Omaha yesterday caused by some Poles trying to make a forcible entrance. Several shots were fired. Several were wounded.

We congratulate Senator Stewart on the outcome of the Glascock divorce suit. Its withdrawal supports strongly the Senator's claim that there was never anything in the case except an attempt at blackmail.

Its hard to turn round in the capitol building, without falling against somebody selling raffle tickets. There is a law against the sale of raffle tickets, but it seems to be a dead letter like the anti-treat bill.

Mason Valley has another paper. This time it is called the Rustler, and it has been started by C. W. Patterson. Typographically that portion of it printed in San Francisco is neat, but there is much room for improvement on the inside. The paper will no doubt fill a long felt want in the Valley in some respects.

Mr. J. K. Emmet, who will present "Fritz in a Mad House" on the 15th, plays with an unusually well selected cast. Among the troupe are the following artists: Misses Emily Lytton, Laura S. Howe, Florence Foster, Florence Germaine; Messrs. Hudson Liston, Fred De Vere, Theo De Vere, Harry Coffin, Frank Wise, David Rivers, Little Baby Spencer Sinner and others.

There has been, and always is, more or less talk during a legislative session about the school money. It is right to look after this money carefully, but it is now in such a condition that is doing very little good. The low rate of interest is drawing could be doubled or tripled if the money could be used for irrigation purposes. In tying the money up so that it cannot be used the people are just keeping so much money—over a million and a quarter of dollars—from making any more money.

Gold in the Valley.

C. T. Martin and W. H. Spragg, of Mason Valley have discovered some pretty fair gold prospects in Mason Valley, about six miles to the southwest of Yerington. The deposits are in the range of hills lying between Mason and Smith valley, and are about two miles from the Walker river. Other prospectors have discovered gold in that section. It is low grade material, but the indications are that there is considerable of it as the ledges are large. Mr. Martin was in from the valley the first of this week and was negotiating for the purchase of the old Franklin arastre on the Carson river above Dayton, which he intends to take out there to work the ore from the different prospects.—Lyon County Times.

No Pay.

There has been some conflict of opinion as to the right of members to draw pay for the additional working days. It has been pretty definitely settled, however, among lawyers that the $400 limit to the pay of members will preclude the possibility of drawing any more pay, and this is as most of the members understood when the bill was passed. As a result there will be several thousand dollars left in the Legislative fund on adjournment, and the members of the 17th, session will enjoy the distinction of having been the first one, in history that has adjourned and left a surplus in the treasury.

Matzos.

Parties wishing to order matzos can do so by leaving their orders with A. Jacobs.

BLOOD ON THE MOON.

BUT NOT A SPOT OF IT ON THE FLOOR.

There was a lively spot in the Senate over the appropriation bill. On the proposition of concurring in the Assembly amendment to appropriate $3000 for the Agricultural Society. There were several Senators absent. When a call of the house was moved Comins was just coming in, and Patchen moved that he be excused.

This brought the generally calm, unruffled Senator to his place with a ripping speech. He said he had been off and on for twenty years in the Senate Chamber, and the White Pine member had never asked leave of absence or to be excused on any proposition. He made the place ring with a scorching speech, in which he asked the members to vote down the motion that he be excused.

The question was on the appropriation to the State Agricultural Society and Gignoux held that Comins could not vote as he was not present when the question was put. This made another wrangle in which several questions were put, and everybody watched the eye of the Chair.

The roll was finally proceeded with and the vote stood 7 to 6 and was declared passed. Gignoux rose to a point of order and held that it took a constitutional majority. Summerfield jumped up and charged Gignoux with raising false questions to defeat an appropriation, this brought Gignoux to his feet denouncing as false the statement of the man from Washoe, and he added that he was responsible for his language anywhere in the Senate or out of it.

Several Senators jumped up, and it looked as if Gignoux was about to climb over four desks to reach the Washoe law maker, but Patchen was ready to interfere on a high table in case it was necessary.

At once the place was in an uproar, everybody on his feet calling for the Chair to put rules, call rolls, take a recess and adjourn sine die or otherwise. A recess was finally taken and everybody cooled down in a minute. Richards put his gun back in his boot, Boyle laid his Arkansas toothpick back in his desk, and the messenger boy who started out to get 100 rounds of 44 calibre cartridges was called back to distribute printed copies of the appropriation bill.

Where the Blame Lies.

A philosopher declared that a river can never be purer than its source, and this seems to apply to politics. People complain of the crookedness of professional politicians, and yet there are many who will consider it perfectly honorable to bleed the men who run for office most unmercifully. Just before election, fairs, dances, raffles, festivals of all kinds are held in great confusion, and clubs, lodges, and even churches do not hesitate to arrange them, never for a moment considering that it is a gross wrong to hold a club over a man running for office and "pulling his leg," politically speaking. If men are taxed out of all sense of reason by schemes like these enumerated can any one blame them, if they seek to make themselves whole by shady tactics if they are elected?—Ex.

Died.

In this city, March 11, 1895, Eugene Cary, aged 23 years and 3 months. Deceased was a son of Wm. Cary, one time proprietor of the Arlington House, of this city. A short time ago he returned to Carson with the hope of regaining his health, but he rapidly grew weaker until the end came. His mother had been telegraphed for and arrived a few hours before he died. The funeral takes place from Gen. Clark's residence at 2 o'clock today.

The bill that it was proposed to introduce in the Legislature for the relief of the Hutton bondsmen, will probably not be introduced. Attorney-General Beatty has written an opinion to the effect that any such act would be unconstitutional, and this will be likely to settle the matter.
